Mentor's Speak

While many education systems have resisted changing their 150-year-old structure, COVID-19 has brought home the reality that while online education can deliver great content, student engagement and teachers interaction compelling us to adopt technology.

We are using platforms such as Microsoft Teams, Udemy, Coursera, etc. which provide a blend of tools such as using Live Classes, Recorded Videos, Excel, PDFs, Presentations, to make teaching and learning more interactive. Teaching, for a country like India, needs to focus on competency-based learning, along with enhancing skills and attitudes.

Lastly, we also need to make our students confident to voice their opinions, take leadership actions, develop emotional intelligence and embrace change, even if the decision fails it can cultivate a feeling of self-accomplishment.

The Leadership Tales

They are here to break the rules, redefine entrepreneurship and how! We are talking about Ackrity Ashish Seth & Anubhuti Sarma, two influential women entrepreneurs and esteemed alumnae of NSHM Knowledge Campus.

Ackrity Ashish Seth

A B.Sc. in Media Science alumna of NSHM Kolkata (Batch of 2010), Ackrity started her career in corporate with no background or experience in events.

Ackrity began planning birthday parties for kids and eventually developed an inclination towards designing theme decors and events.

With time, she started her own venture named Eventz by Ackrity - a full-fledged event planning services and production work for weddings and corporate events.

The service involves inspired event design with extensive international experience.

She has amassed huge success and has also organised some beautiful weddings in Kolkata, Jaipur and Thailand.

Anubhuti Sarma

An ex-student of B.Sc. in Hospitality Management (Batch of 2016-19), NSHM Knowledge Campus, Kolkata began her tryst with entrepreneurship by opening a cafe called D'kafetto.

It is the first cafe in Guwahati, which is entirely run by girls. A warm place with a cosy ambience, one can visit with friends and explore the delicious cuisines available.

Anubhuti believes that an ambience can affect everything from perceptions on responsiveness and reliability - and D'kaffeto is designed on the exact same idea.

Well, fierce & fearless, aren't they?

The regularity of classes are a key role in the play. Teachers are very cooperative and helpful and guide us on every step. We are participating in online events and webinars. We are even interning with reputed firms and bodies.

Bidisha Pandey

MBA

Batch of 2019-21

I'm blown away by how easily the teachers adjusted the structure of their lectures to fit the pandemic situation. They've kept it fun and interesting, and they've gone above and beyond what I expected. Studying at NSHM has given me the opportunity to expand my horizons and increase my vigour.

Rina Mitra

Head of Aangan

Aangan, the Centre for Creative and Performing Arts is at present offering Music Appreciation and Theatre Appreciation classes for the students of 2nd and 4th semesters. These courses are being conducted online by reputed visiting faculty members Arjita Roy and Janardan Ghosh.

Soujanya Pudi
