THEMES AND SUB - THEMES

Call for Papers

The sustainable development of businesses and investors rests on the tripod of environmental, social and governance factors. Instead of focusing solely on the “P” of Profits, these factors accord equal importance to two other “P’s, i.e. People and Planet”. Robust ESG performance can attract investors, and improve brand reputation. Formulating and executing strategies to counter these challenges backed by collaboration between governments, businesses, and NGOs, can play pivotal roles in promoting a sustainable and equitable future.

The conference welcomes academicians, research scholars, members from industries and students to contribute new ideas, concepts, and applications for discussion in the conference.

Sub-Themes

Track-1: Sustainable Business Practices

- Role of governance and financial misconduct
- Sustainable HR practice
- Green marketing practices and strategies
- Eco-efficient production and supply chain practices
- Sustainable advances in behavioural finance and neurofinance
- Blockchain technology and the future of financial accounting

Track2: Equity and Security towards Social Inclusiveness and Well-being

- Transforming research, education, and skill development to support sustainable development
- Universal health and sanitation
- Women's empowerment and gender budgeting
- Peace, justice, and sustainable development

Track 3: Technology and Infrastructure and Sustainability Goals

- Application of AI & ML in sustainable practice
